RIGHT: Moody drama prevails in a guest bathroom with walls and flooring covered in Florim tiles. A pair of sconces from Kelly Wearstler accentuate a round mirror, floating sink, and cabinetry, all sourced from Porcelanosa.

A PASSION FOR CONCEPTUALIZING elegant high-end homes has made Hilary Musser a master of all things interior design. This tastemaker's trajectory in the design world spans nearly three decades—from traveling the globe for bespoke treasures with Philadelphia design legend Bennett Weinstock to opening 21 Federal Antiques on Nantucket Island to eventually establishing an office of Hilary Musser Interior Design in West Palm Beach. Musser's concept-to-completion repertoire includes multiple houses, including two of her own, the latest of which is in the heart of West Palm Beach's historic district, right next door to her previous one.

"The view from this property is one of the most spectacular in the city," says the designer. "The home is the first to sit directly on the water 10 feet above an adjacent dog

The front entry area of the residence showcases an Teknoarredo staircase with custom walnut treads precluded by French sculptor Paul Sibuet's eye-grabbing Flow 114, Marbre Blanc. J. Steven Manolis' black-and-white painting, Universe, spans the length of the hallway.
